The Scafell Pike race like our earlier meetings was blessed with good weather yet again and the fact that another race clashed with this years event didn't seem to matter, many regulars and quite a few new faces appeared on the day. We actually had a larger field than was expected, 36 runners compared to 26 from the previous year. This definitely put a smile on the organisers faces that was only marred by no ladies having entered.

With a brisk breeze waiting on the summit and with the cloud veil periodically lifting and revealing Pikes Crag, the ascent was led by Alan Bowness with Brian Thompson second and Jonny Bland third at England's highest checkpoint. However, on the descent Jonny went into freefall mode bringing him to the front before the Lingmill drop-off. For a while Ian Holmes' 1989 record looked in danger but Jonny failed by only 15 seconds to improve on it. A formidable effort which will no doubt be polished up in readiness for next year!

Thanks once again to Steve Barnes and Jenny Bailey with Len and Denise Watson on the summit and to my fiancée Sandy and daughters Helen, Lucy and Hannah for their help on the registration and finish. I hope the home-made Scafell Pike marmalade went down well, we're experimenting with home brew at the moment so next year.....hic!???

Here's looking forward to seeing you all again next year, please let's have at least one lady runner and partner so we can give away the next Jack and Jill prize. This year we even suggested to a few wives and girlfriends that they could win prizes even if they walked! but no one took the bait. The two lady check point marshals hinted that they wouldn't mind receiving them, however race ethics prevented this and they had to be content with a jar of marmalade each instead, but next time.....!!

P.S. Don't forget the 1996 season starts with the Sailbeck race see the FRA race calendar for details.
