This year's Wasdale will be remembered by all those who took part for the monsoon conditions that started about an hour into the race and the lack of visibility in dense cloud. The event was a real test of navigation and stamina and the camp site abounded with heroic tales of "how I ended up on Red Pike and/or Mickledore".

Billy Bland's eventual win was achieved only after a tremendous battle to claw back 11 positions. At Seatallan he was in the lead but at Pillar he had dropped to 11th, nearly 17 minutes behind Jack Maitland. At Gable he was 9th and at Esk Hause he was 3rd just behind Andy Ligema, and only 1 minute behind Jack. Jack was caught on the Pike and on the descent to the finish both Billy and Andy pulled away, Billy eventually winning by over 6 minutes. All those who completed the course did well.

The real heroes of the day were however the check point marshalls who had to remain on the tops for many hours in the atrocious weather, monitoring the runners around the course. In bad weather their role is critical and without their help races would not take place.
